

Jeron Provider[®] Nurse Call Expands Alerting Options

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

July 23 – Niles, Illinois - - Jeron Electronic Systems, Inc., the designer and manufacturer of the Provider line of Nurse Call Systems, is excited to announce additional notification options to speed alerts to caregivers of active patient, resident, and staff calls.

Supporting patient/resident safety and staff satisfaction, Provider nurse call has always focused on keeping staff mobile yet still connected with their patients/residents and other team members. Provider nurse call supports multiple modes of alerting to wireless devices including in-house SIP phones, smartphone, and pocket pagers. Now, to make alerting options even more flexible, Provider Nurse Call has added email alerts of active calls. Staff can be alerted of active patient/resident/staff calls by email, at their desktop computer and any remote location where they can receive their emails.

This new level of alerting, opens up applications such as:

- Notification of code blue crash team calls to staff members with mobile phones off site, using the phone's email account
- System supervision alerts sent to on-site and off-site technicians to ensure that the Provider nurse call system is always operational
- Nurse Managers can ensure a timely response to patient/resident calls by monitoring them real-time. If a call waits on the system for too long, it can automatically generate an email alert to a manager.

Ericka Baran, Vice-President of Sales & Marketing remarks, "Our end-user partners are using advanced nurse call technology and requires information at-a-glance or when they are off the floor, this additional email notification gives them more information. The flexibility of the Provider architecture lets each facility create a customized solution to match their needs."
